Dear Mrs. Adeva,

Please accept this letter as notice of my resignation from my post as POD Assistant here at the Autohub Group of Companies, Inc. effective 30 days from tomorrow's date. My final day in the office will be on July 29, 2021.

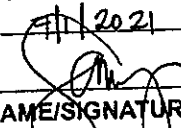

I am deeply thankful for all the guidance that I have received over the course of the last 2 years. I will make sure to always keep to heart all the lessons I have learned within my stay in the People and Organization Development Division, most especially the culture that we have cultivated which made it a pleasure to come to work each morning.

My apologies for this sudden outcome, and I believe an explanation is well due. The past year and months have been truly challenging, most especially due to numerous progressive and sudden changes at work. Along with this, the pandemic has also caused further issues that extend to my family, creating numerous internal issues among us. After long deliberation I have decided to resign from my current post. This is not only to preserve and treat my currently challenged mental health, but to allow POD to welcome a new assistant who would serve the division better than myself at my current condition, given such crucial and trying times for the company.

Rest assured, I am willing to do all within my capabilities to aid in your transitioning in finding and training my replacement within my rendering period.

All the best,

Christian Padilla
POD Assistant
